

BICENTENNIAL

1776-1976

"Remembrances of Days Gone By"

Pictorial Review of Days Gone By

Looking south on Water Street from the second street corner back in 1910 one would have seen something like this. The Farmers Savings Bank is located where Al Sorensen is today and note the hitching posts in front of Charlie Kinsey's Store. Horse drawn carriages were still in demand, but a few daring souls had automobiles for transportation.

This photo was taken looking west on 2nd Street from Water, back in 1918. Notice the dirt roads and the old Model-T cars. Today, the buildings on the left side of the picture are occupied by Perrier's, Joe's Pharmacy, Lawrence Hardware and Appliance, Wagaman's Insurance, The Floral Cart and the Sportsman's Inn.

